Case No.: 2:20-cv-00376-GMN-NJK

ORDER

Pending before the Court is Plaintiffs Ryan Bohlim, Larry Lawter, John Smallman, Dolores Scott, Julie Mutsko, Victor Wukovits, and Kerri Shapiro’s (“Smallman Plaintiffs”) Motion for Appointment of Interim Class Counsel, (ECF No. 67).

Also Pending before the Court is Plaintiffs Jeffrey Scott Cameron, Kevin V. Horne, and Bryan Khalilirad’s (“Cameron Plaintiffs”) Motion for Appointment of Interim Class Counsel, (ECF No. 68).

For the reasons discussed below, the Court GRANTS the Smallman Plaintiffs’ Motion for Appointment of Interim Class Counsel and DENIES the Cameron Plaintiffs’ Motion.

I. BACKGROUND

This case arises out of a data breach announced by Defendant MGM Resorts International (“MGM”) indicating that the personally identifiable information of MGM’s customers was stolen. (Compl. ¶¶ 1–10, ECF No. 1). Plaintiffs filed seven separate class action complaints in this District, alleging similar claims, such as negligence, breach of contract, and unjust enrichment, as well as violations of state consumer protection laws.<sup>1</sup> On March 30,

<sup>1</sup> Smallman v. MGM Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00376-JAD-NJK, was the first class action, filed on February 21, 2020; Horne v. MGM Resorted Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00402-KJD-DJA, was filed on February

1 2020, the Court granted the parties’ stipulation to consolidate the separate cases into this
 2 prospective class action. (See Order, ECF No. 22).<sup>2</sup> Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil
 3 Procedure 23(g)(3), the Smallman Plaintiffs and the Cameron Plaintiffs now both move to
 4 appoint interim class counsel, pending class certification, to submit a consolidated complaint
 5 and conduct pretrial proceedings. (See generally Smallman Mot. Interim Counsel (“Smallman
 6 Mot.”), ECF No. 67); (Cameron Mot. Interim Counsel (“Cameron Mot.”), ECF No. 68). (See
 7 also Order 2:1–6, ECF No. 61).

8 II. LEGAL STANDARD

9 “The court may designate interim class counsel to act on behalf of a putative class before 10 determining whether to certify the action as a class action” when it is “necessary to protect the 11 interests” of class members. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(3); Manual for Complex Litigation (Fourth) §
 12 21.11 (2004). This typically occurs in cases where “a large number of putative class actions
 13 have been consolidated or otherwise are pending in a single court.” In re Nest Labs Litigation, 14 No. 14-cv-01363-BLF, 2014 WL 12878556, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 18, 2014) (citing Donaldson
 15 v. Pharmacia Pension Plan, No. CIV. 06-3-GPM, 2006 WL 1308582, at *1–2 (S.D. Ill. May 16 10, 2006). Further, when there is competition between law firms to represent the class,
 17 designation of interim class counsel is appropriate. See Parish v. Nat’l Football League
 18 Players, Inc., No. C 07-00943 WHA, 2007 WL 1624601, at *9 (N.D. Cal. June 4, 2007)
 19 (declining to designate interim class counsel without a “gaggle of law firms jockeying to be 20 appointed”).

21 _____
 22 26, 2020; Cameron v. MGM Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00429-JCM-DJA, was filed on February 28,
 23 2020; Brodsky v. MGM Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00486-GMN-NJK, was filed on March 9, 2020;
 24 Lawter v. MGM Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00529-RFB-EJY, was filed on March 13, 2020; Scott v.
 25 MGM Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00522-JAD-NJK, was filed on March 13, 2020; and Breen v. MGM
Resorts Int’l, case number 2:20-cv-00541-APG-NJK, was filed on March 17, 2020. (See Order 3:1–16, ECF No.

<sup>2</sup> On July 21, 2020, the Court consolidated two additional related case numbers: 2:20-cv-00744-JAD-NJK and 2:20-cv-00749-GMN-NJK. (Order, ECF No. 86).

1 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(g)(1)(A) sets out the considerations that courts must
2 weigh when appointing class counsel once a class has been certified, which courts also apply to
3 the appointment of interim class counsel prior to class certification. See, e.g., Wright v. Jacob
4 Transp., LLC, No. 2:15-cv-00056-JAD-GEF, 2015 WL 3916001, at *3 (D. Nev. June 24, 2015)
5 (citing In re Air Cargo Shipping Servs. Antitrust Litig., 240 F.R.D. 56, 57 (E.D.N.Y.2006)).

6 Accordingly, courts must consider four factors when appointing interim class counsel:

7 (1) the work counsel has done in identifying or investigating potential claims in the 8 action;

9 (2) counsel's experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and the 10 types of claims asserted in the action;

11 (3) counsel's knowledge of the applicable law; and

12 (4) the resources that counsel will commit to representing the class.

13 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1)(A). Additionally, courts "may consider any other matter pertinent to 14 counsel's ability to fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class." Fed. R. Civ. P.
15 23(g)(1)(B). "If more than one adequate applicant seeks appointment, the court must appoint
16 the applicant best able to represent the interests of the class." Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(2).

17 III. DISCUSSION

18 In the present case, appointing interim class counsel is appropriate; this is a consolidated
19 action and two teams of attorneys are competing to represent the putative class. See Nest Labs,
20 2014 WL 12878556, at *1; Parish, 2007 WL 1624601, at *9. Accordingly, the Court finds that 21 it is necessary to appoint interim class counsel to protect the interests of the class.

22 The Smallman Plaintiffs ask the Court to appoint John A. Yanchunis of Morgan &
23 Morgan; Douglas J. McNamara of Cohen Milstein Sellers & Toll, PLLC; David M. Berger of 24 Gibbs Law Group LLP; and E. Michelle Drake of Berger Montague PC as co-lead interim class
25 counsel, with Miles Clark of Knepper & Clark LLC and Don Springmeyer of Wolf, Rifkin,

1 Shapiro, Schulman & Rabkin, LLP as co-liaison counsel (collectively, “Morgan Cohen”).
2 (Smallman Mot. 24:15–18). The Cameron Plaintiffs request the appointment of Katrina Carroll
3 of Carlson Lynch LLP; Erin Comite of Scott+Scott Attorneys at Law LLP; and Christian Levis
4 of Lowey Dannenberg, P.C. as co-lead interim class counsel, with Jennifer Fornetti of The 5 Bourassa Law Group as liaison counsel (collectively, “Carlson Scott”). (Cameron Mot. 24:6– 6 13).

7         The Morgan Cohen team is comprised of attorneys who have “had leadership roles in 8 virtually every major consumer data breach case litigated to date.” (Smallman Mot. 1:12–13).
9 Likewise, the Carlson Scott team brings “complementary knowledge of managing complex
10 class action cases and experiences regarding data breaches and the protection of consumer
11 privacy.” (Cameron Mot. 5:3–6). Both Morgan Cohen and Carlson Scott have secured millions
12 of dollars in settlements for class action and data breach cases. (See generally Smallman Mot., 13 ECF No. 67); (Cameron Mot., ECF No. 68). After reviewing the application materials from 14 both teams, including the resumes of the individual attorneys, as well as the track records of 15 their respective firms, it is clear to the Court that both the Morgan Cohen and Carlson Scott
16 teams have the knowledge, experience, and resources required to litigate this case.

17         To set themselves apart, the Cameron Plaintiffs stress the importance of diversity in 18 court-appointed leadership structures to avoid the “repeat player dynamic” and encourage 19 “fresh outlooks and innovative ideas.” (Cameron Mot. 1:19–2:6 (citing Standards and Best
20 Practices for Large and Mass-Tort MDLs at 46, 58 (1st ed., Dec. 19, 2014)). See also In re
21 Robinhood Outage Litigation, No., 2020 WL 7330596, at *2 (N.D. Cal. July 14, 2020)
22 (declining to appoint interim class counsel because the Court was “concerned about the lack of 23 diversity in the proposed lead counsel”). Carlson Scott argues that its team, which is comprised 24 of two female lead attorneys and young partners, reflects a diversity of gender, age, and 25 experience, making it better suited to represent what is surely a diverse class. (Id. 3:1–3, 19:9–

1 10:8). However, the Morgan Cohen team does not lack diversity of gender, age, or experience;
2 it includes a female lead attorney, first-time lead attorneys, and a young partner, as well as
3 attorneys with over twenty years of class action experience.<sup>3</sup> As such, the Court is confident
4 that the selection of either team will adequately represent a diverse putative class.

5 Clearly both teams of attorneys are more than qualified to handle this action; each has
6 the knowledge, experience, and resources needed to pursue this litigation. However, the Court
7 notes that the Cameron Plaintiffs' Motion neglected to discuss one of the four factors courts
8 must consider when appointing interim class counsel: the work that Carlson Scott has done in 9 identifying and investigating potential claims for this action. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1).
10 While the Court's own initiative revealed that Carlson Scott's attorneys filed detailed
11 Complaints in their respective originating cases, the failure to address an essential factor of a
12 prescribed balancing test is an oversight indicating to the Court that Carlson Scott would not be 13 best suited to advocate for the interests of the putative class. Moreover, because the first
14 Plaintiff to file suit was John Smallman, represented by John A. Yanchunis, it would be 15 appropriate to assign Morgan Cohen as co-lead counsel. See, e.g., Biondi v. Scrushy, 820 A.2d 16 1148, 1159 (Del. Ch. 2003) (noting that courts will consider which action was filed first for 17 lead counsel purpose where "there is a need for an objective tie-breaker"). Accordingly, the 18 Court finds that Morgan Cohen would best be able to represent the interests of the putative
19 class, and thus grants the Smallman Plaintiffs' Motion.

24 <sup>3</sup> "One of the proposed co-leads, E. Michelle Drake is a highly accomplished female attorney;" "Douglas 25 McNamara and David Berger have worked actively on numerous data breach and complex cases, but have not themselves ever served as Lead or Co-Lead counsel;" "Miles Clark is a young lawyer (age 39);" and John Yanchunis and Don Springmeyer each have over twenty years of experience in class action cases. (Resp. 2:19– 20, 3:9–11, 3:14 –15, ECF No. 85).
